Diocesan Ministry Appeal

Jesus, better than anyone else, understands what kind of trust it takes to achieve an intimate, strong friendship. Today's Gospel is a love-letter from Jesus. God longs to have true friendship with His children.

He is honest with us about what a relationship with Him requires and gives. Remaining with Him requires pruning, and it bears much fruit.

Who doesn't want to bear "much fruit" (John 15:8)? Our parish seeks to abide in Jesus in this same way and you can help through your support of our Diocesan Ministry Appeal. As you discern, abide in Jesus. Respond to how He, the vine, moves you, His beloved branch. Help us bear fruit as a parish so we can yield a greater harvest for Him together.

Whoever remains in me and I in him will bear much fruit.
- John 15:5

Adult Catholic Studies

On May 5th, we will respond to the reasons non-Catholics and many Catholics doubt the Real Presence and consider the Mass just a boring ritual or a meaningless obligation. We will see that Mass has a "cosmic character," permeating all Creation. We will learn it is a "wrinkle in time" which offers the most intimate of all earthly encounters with God. We will discover that the Eucharist is not a generic thing, since Jesus desires each of us individually and comes to us, one-on-one. And we will see that each Mass allows us to 'share our pew' with loved ones who have gone on ahead of us.

We will then take a 'tour' of the Catholic chapel, showing how the furnishings, sacred vessels, and priestly vestments closely resemble what appeared in the Old Testament tabernacle and Temple. (This is why Jews who attend Mass with a Catholic friend are so often amazed at how familiar it all seems.)

Please join us as we complete our final class on Presence. We hope it will give you a better understanding of what you may have been missing!

Our final Adult Catholic Studies class until next fall:

May 5 The Mass

Holy Trinity Adult Catholic Studies meets Sundays at 10 am in the Hope House.

Catholic FYI

The word "virtue" is used as a synonym for goodness or sobriety or some likable personality trait, but the Church uses the term in a much more precise way.

Virtues are special graces given by God to the soul for the accomplishment of particular objectives. They inhere in the soul and are subject to strengthening or weakening. The Church distinguishes between two general categories of virtues: theological and moral.

Faith, hope, and charity are called theological virtues because they are the most important characteristics in a Christian's life, as Paul explains in Romans 5:1-5 and 1 Corinthians 13:13. They pertain (exclusively, in the case of faith and hope, and primarily, in the case of charity) to one's relationship with God.

Faith is the grace of believing in God's love for us and in his revealed truths (Lk 1:45, Jn 11:25-26, Eph 2:8). Hope is the grace of trusting God will be true to His promise to save us from eternal death if we turn to Him in repentance (Rom 5:2, 8:25; Heb 6:17-20; 1 Pt 1:3-5). Charity is a two-fold grace with the primary effect of moving the will to love God fervently and above all things and with the secondary effect of intensifying love for our neighbor (Dt 6:4-6; Mt 22:36-40, 25:31-46; Mk 12:28-31; Rom 13:8-10; 1 Cor 13:1-13).

Moral virtues are so called because they help us live within the moral parameters set forth by the gospel. Chief among them are prudence, justice, temperance, and fortitude, also known as cardinal virtues (derived from the Latin cardo, meaning hinge, because on them hinge all other moral virtues).

Prudence is the grace to form correct judgments (Mt 10:16; 1 Pt 4:7). Justice assists us in dealing equitably with others (Prv 21:21; 1 Tm 6:11). Temperance helps us subdue our sensual appetites and make proper use of God's creatures (1 Cor 6:12, 10:23-24). Fortitude helps us persevere despite temptations to sin and despair (Rom 8:32-35, Jas 5:10-11). Other moral virtues are humility (Mt 18:1-5), patience (Heb 10:36-37), obedience (Rom 13:1-7), chastity (1 Cor 6:15-20), piety (Eph 5:15-20), and veracity (Eph 4:15, 25).
